

Oh no, Inflation !!!!

Hey, wait, what is inflation?

What it's not:

- a sign of a failing economy
- the direct result of any specific policy
- the direct result of any specific behavior

Definition: inflation = increasing prices

Are we in a recession ?????

You may be hearing we're in a recession because there has been negative GDP growth for two quarters. But that's only part of the definition of a recession.

Another key indicators of a recession is increasing unemployment.

Guess what, it's really low!

These are some of the topics in ECON 303 Intermediate Macroeconomics I. This is an amazing time to be studying macroeconomics. Check it out and see!

ECON 303-001
CRN 72830
Tues/Thur 9:30 to 10:45 AM

See you then!

Dr. Dave Dixon